Brian, Your passing has left a void so large in my heart and in my life. You were the kindest person I ever knew. I will always treasure the good times, the fun we had together and the way we could talk about anything and everything. I have truly lost my best friend. Although I have lost you here on earth, I know we will be together again. I await the time I will see your face again, smiling like I always remembered. Please know you were loved and you made me happy. I will always have you in my heart. Never, never to forget you.
