Although we only spent one day with Brayden we could tell he was an angel from the start. Brayden will always be remembered and his happiness will forever be cherished. Each person is put on the Earth for a reason, some to teach us things we would have never known, some to bring joy and happiness and some to change the world forever, rest in peace Brayden we love you.

To Brayden Taylor's Family: I am so sorry for your loss, he is a precious gift from God that we were allowed to borrow. We too have lost a baby this week and will be burying him Friday, a few hours after Brayden in the Garden of Angels. I hope they can be angels together above us and take away our tears. Our baby's name is Carl Gause III and too would have made wonderful memories if he was given the time. I pray for your family's strength and healing.

Brayden was just the happiest little guy! He was a cuddle bug who rarely cried and I loved him dearly. I am so glad that I was able to be here every day of his life to see him grow and learn and just be adorable. Cory and Danielle, you two were the most loving parents I have ever seen. I know how much Brayden meant to you both and the great love that the three of you shared was beautiful. Brayden loved his mama and dada sooooo much!!! I loved the way his face lit up when he saw you guys. We will all love him and remember him forever. Lord, thank you so much for letting us enjoy him for the short time we had. I pray that you would introduce him to my dad so they can get to know each other. I love you buddy!

We are praying for all of you! Brayden made my Sundays when I was able to see him. He was so happy because God had blessed him with wonderful parents and grandparents. Hold onto Jesus. He will help you through this. Brayden hasn't died, for he is alive and well in heaven. He has merely changed addresses. Stay eternally focused. If this life is merely a vapor as the Bible describes, it will not be long before we see him again. Brayden is truly safe in the arms of Jesus. If you ever need to talk, we are here. Our first son died before birth but I know many parents through our Infant Death support group that would be willing to talk with you. It really helps to have someone to cry with, talk with, or yell at. You are not alone. Praying that God carries you through!
