With every word tears roll down my face.I ramble when i an in pain so bear with me to who ever reads this.I can not say how much i love her and will miss my aunt. We were very close when i was younger. Me and shawn grew up together and i remember always going to her house and having a blast with her and my mom. I will always remember how loving and caring she was. She does not take crap from anyone when it comes to her family i wish i was more like her. She is the person i admire for her strenght and will power. Regardless what struggle she might have she pulls through without a complaint. I know it took everything in her power to try to stay here on earth. But like my grandma and mom say she is in a better place and that she was in pain for so long that God had a better place for her in heaven than to be in misery every day.Its just so hard to hear. I prayed every night in denial not wanting believe that she was a bad as she was but i am dealing with it and need to be strong. I know now she is looking down on me telling me that she is fine and not to cry or worry anymore. I love her and will miss her dearly.

It is not often in our lives that you come across a person that you have an instant connection with, a bond that is not described with words. Tho, Marilyn & I, were in-laws, she had touch my heart so very deep, and for that I'm so grateful to have known her, actually to loved her. She will forever be in my heart and my mind. Love you dearly "Scooter".

There are so many fun memories of Marilyn I would not know where to begin. We had a lot of great times back in the day on Eldo. She was always happy and fun to be around. My heart goes out to her family. I know her dad will welcome her with open arms.

I was very sorry to hear of Marilyn's illness and passing. I went to school with her son Shawn. I also worked with Marilyn when I was just out of high school – we had such fun time delivering auto parts together. I had the pleasure of seeing her this past summer at a wedding I was photographing and I am glad to be able to remember her that way – She was dancing and having a great time! She was always a very upbeat person to be around. My best wishes to Shawn and his family, as well as the rest of her family.
