Tiffers, I found this poem online and thought I would post it for you in hopes it would heal your heart some or at least ease the pain a lil when you think about it .I love you honey, find strength in the fact that Amiya is not gone, shes just saving a spot for her mommy. We are connected,My child and I, byAn invisible cordNot seen by the eye.It's not like the cordThat connects us 'til birthThis cord can't been seenBy any on Earth.This cord does it's workRight from the start.It binds us togetherAttached to my heart.I know that it's thereThough no one can seeThe invisible cordFrom my child to me.The strength of this cordIs hard to describe.It can't be destroyedIt can't be denied.It's stronger than any cordMan could createlt withstands the testCan hold any weight.And though you are gone,Though you're not here with me,The cord is still thereBut no one can see.It pulls at my heartI am bruised...I am sore,But this cord is my lifelineAs never before.I am thankful that GodConnects us this wayA mother and childDeath can't take it away

Wow, One year has passed, I find myself wondering how cute youd be and how you and your sister would be together. I see the pain your mother and father are going through and I try to remind them daily that you are still with them in their hearts. Please baby girl give them the strength to keep trying and the knowledge to know that they have people here that care and are willing to help. Its so sad to think that around this time you would be walking and saying your first words. but I hold tight to my belief that you are in a better place and looking down on us helping us make better choices for tomorrow.... I love you yesterday, today, and tomorrow.....Forever your Aunt Vicki
