When I first met her we made in instant connection. No we were not best friends. But she was a very good friend of mine. She was a great mother and had the biggest heart. She would give you the shirt off of her back. Her smile always lit up a room. She was the one that everyone wanted to be around and she was definitely the life of a party and her laugh was contagious. When you were around Amanda you couldnt help but laugh and have a good time that was just the type of person she was. My heart feels so heavy and i feel for her family and her beautiful Daughters that were her entire world. Rest In Paradise Baby Girl until we meet again.

I've lost a solid friend whom I could rely on in times of need. She was a shoulder to cry on and a kind soul in this world of worries. If that one's not In heaven the rest of us may as well give up. God bless her family and I hope they take this better than I am.

Amanda and her siblings were the first real friends we made when we moved to Illinois from Texas. I remember cutting through the parking lot of First Christian Church to meet them for the first time, after Amanda and my older sister Erin had met first. We spent a lot of time over at their house. My family was pretty poor, and they all took us under their wing and made us feel welcome. Amanda specifically was always making different snacks and treats for us. She was such a generous and gentle person, and my heart is broken for her family. She deserved so much better...
